25 Years ... Gone, but not Forgotten
Remembering Louis N. Carouse, Sr.

I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives -- and live so that his place will be proud of him.
~~ Abraham Lincoln

This quote from our 16th President couldn’t have been more fitting for Lou Carouse, Sr. In 1957, a few years after coming to Cleveland, his family growing, he and wife Joan purchased a parcel of land in Brecksville, and built their home. It was here, that the man who many called “Mr. Brecksville”, put down roots, and raised his family. While he had many opportunities through the years to relocate with Ford Motor Co., his heart remained here, in the quaint town he called home. He and Joan raised their four children here, and each of them came home to Brecksville to raise their children, as did his granddaughter. Lou’s passion for Brecksville led him to being involved in the community, giving back where he could.

His family remembers the pride he had for Brecksville, and thanks him for choosing this wonderful community we call home.

In Loving Memory of

Sylvia J. Heiser

Sylvia J. Heiser was a resident of Richfield for over 55 years. Her presence was felt all around the Village and among many different families. She had the attitude that put everyone before herself every day. She was kind, funny, caring, and was always there for anyone who needed someone to talk to.

As a Cub Scout Den Leader for many years, Sylvia supported the local Boy Scouts and saw two of her sons as well as one of her grandsons become an Eagle Scout. She was very much devoted to her family and always made sure to check on family members and would ask many questions about what was going on in their lives. She was very proud of her entire family whether it be her loving husband, siblings, sons and their families, or her grandchildren in their own endeavors. Walking into her home, you were always greeted with a smile, cheerful hello, and a hug.

Sylvia would make sure to make every holiday special by making specific dishes that everyone loved and that would make everyone go back for more. She made everyone’s birthday special by singing memorable birthday songs and always sung memorable end of school, and back to school songs for those in school. She would always make sure the little details in everyone’s life were as good as possible. Sylvia inspired everyone she came across throughout life. She taught those around her about having a strong work ethic and to work for everything you want in life. She loved to share stories of her past and her heritage, stories of other family members, and talked about current news from sports to world events.

Very much missed already and will be forever, but the memories of Sylvia will warm the hearts of those who were blessed to know her.
