Sponsored Ads

Recognize local achievements. Show your community connection.

A sponsored ad combines recognition of people or achievements in the community with identification of your business as the sponsor.

For example, a Student of the Month ad can introduce selected students, share their accomplishments and include a congratulatory message from your business.

Connect your business with the community

Sponsored ads allow your business to recognize local people and their accomplishments while also promoting your products or services.

The recognition is a central part of the ad. Your business's name, logo, contact information and promotional message can appear alongside it, allowing readers to see both whom you are recognizing and who is providing that support.

What a sponsored ad can include

The Students of the Month example shows how these elements can work together:

- A headline identifying the recognition and sponsoring business
- Photographs of the students
- Brief descriptions of their accomplishments
- Your business's logo and contact information
- Information about your products or services

The balance between recognition and business information depends on the selected size and format.

Discuss available opportunities

Sponsorship opportunities may be available with selected features. Contact us to discuss what is offered in the communities you want to reach, along with the format, schedule, pricing and information needed.
